What the IRS record means

The IRS states that an organization is automatically revoked when it fails to file a required Form 990-series annual return or notice for three consecutive years. The IRS Auto-Revocation List includes the organization name, EIN, effective revocation date and, when applicable, the exemption reinstatement date. An organization that is later reinstated remains on the historical Auto-Revocation List.

Current-status evidence

Current nonprofit data identify Woodhaven Community Development Inc. as EIN 75-2770293, a 501(c)(3) organization in Fort Worth, Texas. A current IRS-data-derived listing reports an exemption-status date of February 2025. Older IRS-derived data identify an original ruling date of April 1999.
